

An Inspiration in Massachusetts

So the story goes...

In winter time, a deer family wanders at night time around the back garden looking for food. The innocence of these creatures, the frozen air, and the white snow in contrast to the darkness and the stillness of the night, it is a magical moment to be treasured for.

Imagine this scenery is in your backyard or of a close by surroundings. That is priceless, as it plays an emotional tune on us, peacefully, quietly, and calmly.

If this picture could be used as a featured wall to a restaurant, to a tea room serving organic foods, or to a play room for children in a hospital or to a library, it would stretch our brain to reach the ultimate relaxation, since it might take us to a far, far away land.
